Baseball Jury to Push Scandal Quiz

INVESTIGATION IS TO BE CONTINUED
DESPITE HOYNE

OBJECTIONS OF STATE'S ATTORNEY WILL NOT INTERFERE WITH WORK.

OFFICIALS CLASH
Judge McDonald Refutes Report of Inharmony in Work of Court.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Chicago, Sept. 30.—Positive assurance was given today that objections of State's Attorney Macay Hoyne will not interfere with the Cook county grand jury investigation into the $100,000 World's Series baseball game.

Chief Justice McDonald, who ordered the inquiry, has issued a statement answering Mr. Hoyne's declaration that the actions of the grand jury have been illegal.

Investigation To Go On.

Henry H. Brigham, attorney of the grand jury, was frank in stating the investigation will be continued.

"We are well on our way investigating this matter and we intend to go right along with it," Mr. Brigham said.

Today is the last of the jury on routine affairs. It is expected that tomorrow will be unpannelled as a special body. No "baseball session" was scheduled for today. However, it was reported that two other baseball players—members of the Chicago White Sox—have been negotiating to tell what they know of the World's Series plot and it is believed the grand jury will make some kind of arrangement to care for this contingency if the players desire to confess.

Judge Makes Statement.

The investigation into the baseball is to continue without interruption; the grand jury becoming a special grand jury. The indictments will be returned in the regular way. The report that the state's case is not working in harmony is unfounded. Perfect harmony prevails and the work of the grand jury is progressing.

There is no question about law having been violated, there was a conspiracy entered into in the Wrigley hotel in Chicago to do an illegal act, and those guilty will be attended to.

All Subject to Prosecution.

Two others appear before the grand jury and waive immunity that will be subject to prosecution. One is as those who do not appear. They sign a written waiver before they testify. It is felt that they have helped the state the sentence is to be meted out to these persons is to be waived to those persons who have helped them.

"State's Attorney Macay Hoyne is expected back soon, and he may have some valuable information to give to the grand jury when he arrives."

Telch Story Expected.

A statement to the grand jury by Telch was expected soon. It was understood to have "confessed" his share in throwing the 1919 World's Series yesterday to news paper men.

John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, who was examined yesterday, left for New York but was expected to return to Janesville with Benny Kauff and Fred Toney, members of his club. Kauff is alleged to have been involved in "throwing" the game last summer on a deal with Eddie Zimmerman.

More Indictments Likely.

It is said, may be brought against 3 more ball players, 2 or 3 gamblers, the latter may be a man named Brown.

"Hardboiled" Smith, former army lieutenant, convicted by court martial of brutal beating of prisoners in France, was paroled from Fort Leavenworth March 29 after he had served less than 9½ months of his 18 month's term.

This was made known today by the military authorities at Governor's Island after a search of records at Fort Jay cleared up the mystery surrounding what disposal had been made of Smith.

It was said the order for Smith's release had been issued by the adjutant general's office at Washington and had been approved by the secretary of the navy.

BROOKLYN MANAGER
OBJECTS TO INQUIRY

New York, Sept. 30.—Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn National League baseball club, called today on Charles H. Hobbs, president of the club, to voice his objection to the proposal of District Attorney Lewis of Brooklyn to question the permanent winner concerning reports that some of them have been approached by gamblers in efforts to "fix" the 1920 World's Series.

"Gamblers made at least $500,000 as a result of American members of the Chicago World's series team in the 1919 world's series," said Atwell, whose name has frequently been mentioned in connection with the Chicago investigation.

"There is a bad mind who evolved and operated the entire scheme," said Atwell. "Of course, he and several others. His name and their names I know, I don't care to reveal them at the present time. Later I shall give names and particulars."

New Garbage Collection and Disposal Plan Is Ready for the Council

Equipment and Cost for First Year to Be 25 Cents a Month for Jamesville People—Comprehensive and Efficient Plan.

With the presentation of a complete plan on Monday evening to the council, the board of health will have taken the first steps in the solution of the garbage collection and disposal for Jamesville.

In the first place Janesville has no garbage collection and no sanitary method of disposal so that the board of health was compelled to begin at the bottom of the ladder and work out the whole plan from the initial point.

Most important at first therefore was the collection of garbage. For this purpose the full outfit would have to be purchased the first year and thereafter the cost would be reduced as the equipment would still be in use. In its plan the Board of Health divides the city into garbage collection districts with a central station, to which the garbage would first be brought. Each resident would have a garbage receptacle, air tight and sanitary, these to be bought by the city and sold only at cost to the house owners or occupants.

Those released yesterday were instructed to report Monday by which time officials say it will be known whether the plans will operate on a three-months basis or remain closed until conditions in the automobile industry get back to normal.

Falling off in the demand for automobiles is assigned as the cause of the drastic curtailment of productions.

Insures Garbage Collection.

These teams and men, said the board of health, will insure the city as good a protection of garbage as that is in any city of this size. In the coming winter having no old or left-over method to deal with, can be operated to the satisfaction of the householders. In making up the estimate for the disposal the board has included the purchase of ten acres of land for the garbage disposal plant. It is the plan of the board and the city officials are familiar with the project, to permit the erection of a reduction plant, how ever, negotiation whereby all the garbage

Italian Coal Miners Fail To Agree With Owners

Rome, Sept. 30.—Representatives of the owners of coal mines and of miners have failed to reach an agreement relative to wages, the principal question involved in the strike.

"The permanent winner," reported the newspaper, "is the miners' association, which has approached several gamblers in efforts to 'fix' the 1920 World's Series."

"Miners' leaders made $250,000."

Tonight gamblers made at least $500,000 as a result of American members of the Chicago World's series team in the 1919 world's series," said Atwell, whose name has frequently been mentioned in connection with the Chicago investigation.

MOVING DAY! NOMADS OF NEW YORK TO HAVE RUSH OF BUSINESS

New York, Sept. 30.—New York's annual fall moving day tomorrow will be marked by unprecedented confusion, with more than 150,000 families in more than 4,000 moving vans, including many of which already are occupied by determined tenants. This was the situation forecast by van owners and real estate men, who predicted the greatest that it would take at least 24 days to settle the city's nomads into their new quarters.

It was difficult to determine whether the shortness of moving vans or the shortage of places into which to move presented the most serious problem.

IRISH CONSIDER HOME RULE PLAN

Viscount Grey's Solution Attracts Much Attention Generally Disapproved.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.) Dublin, Sept. 30.—Suggestions for the solution of the Irish problem, which are virtually an offer of generous form of home rule made by Viscount Grey, have attracted much attention. Public opinion分歧.

"It conforms to the traditional policy of all British attempts to solve Ireland, in that it follows the line of least resistance," said British statesmen, "and that policy and British legislation upon principle rather than the expediency of the moment." The Irish question will remain.

Why Not a Woman for President? Many Thought Qualified for Office

Washington.—Will one of the great political parties nominate a woman for president in 1924?

The suggestion starts, but there is no longer a constitutional handicap to woman's political progress, if the women themselves really want to see one of their number elected to the highest office. In the world it is within the power of this nation to bestow.

Consider the feminine presidential timber. Who would be the logical selection of the 57,000,000 women who may vote at the next election? The first opportunity to put forward a woman candidate would be four years hence. By 1924 a lot of things may have happened. And changes will have taken place. And if the feminist movement rushes onward, even increasing momentum, as it has since 1913, there is no telling whether it will stop short of the White House or not.

What if it did send numerous women to the senate and the house of representatives? Is the nation ready to give up social offices? Are there women educated and trained sufficiently to fill these important national and state offices? Time will have to answer these questions. Meanwhile why not canvass the possibilities?

If Mrs. Catt or Miss Paul should be nominated for president who would make an acceptable running mate? There is no woman in the United States better known than Mrs. Catt. U.S. Senator Harding and Governor Cox has had editorial experience having assisted numerous in editing a daily newspaper in an Iowa town.

Perhaps Mrs. Alice Hill Chittenden, New York state leader of the anti-suffragists, would make an acceptable running mate for either Mrs. Catt or Miss Paul. Miss Chittenden has had training though its aim proved to be misdirected. She has a wide understanding of national questions and she has been associated with some of the best minds of the day. Since 1915, when New York women were franchised, Miss Chittenden has fulfilled her civic duties and she took an active part in the recent campaign to nominate a Republican candidate for president.

If the slogan, "A strong woman for president," should gain headway in the next four years, one of the great political parties might do worse than nominate Miss Anne Morgan, sister of the head of the great banking house of Morgan, for the presidency. She knows about big money and can talk in millions as well as in dollars. For this reason it has been suggested that Miss Morgan might make a better secretary to the treasury than president. If she were named for the chief post, the nation would not need fear that she would leave all her work to underlings. She has a reputation for doing things herself because she can do them so much better than anyone else.

Miss Paul is many years younger than Mrs. Catt. In fact she is probably disqualified for the high post of the nation's leader by her youth. That might be remedied by law. And it would be at the expense of before she receives the nomination that might eventually qualify.

If Mrs. Catt or Miss Paul should be nominated for president who would make an acceptable running mate? The name of Miss Mary Garrett Hay of New York has been mentioned. She has been mentioned for her first executive ability, and is head of a new organization in the present campaign.

Miss Catt might be nominated for president who would make an acceptable running mate. The name of Miss Mary Garrett Hay of New York has been mentioned. She has been mentioned for her first executive ability, and is head of a new organization in the present campaign.

Can a Cox or a Harding any Democratic or Republican candidate show a more sincere or deeper interest in a just cause than this? Their daughter is an Iowa farmer? Hasn't she the right ideals for entrance through the sacred portals of the White House?

The question of sex would hardly come up if Mrs. Catt were a presidential candidate. She is a stateswoman of broad and far-reaching vision, a student of international affairs, who has traveled around the world and has been closely associated with men and women of nearly every foreign country. She is kindly, sympathetic, courageous and her mind has been trained to cope with the big issues of the day. And she is an organization the like of which no man running for president ever had to support him.

When the women really enter politics, both state and national, the men will begin to realize the cost of organization, these vote earners will be men building up for more than a score of years. It might have the power to sway an election, brought to a test.

What sort of a president would Miss Alice Paul make? She has a large following, though this militant worker for the enfranchisement of American women entered the fight will be reduced to fertilizer, oils and grease, and no cost be entailed by city in its operation.

Municipal Profit in Garbage.

Garbage is no longer burned in cities where attention is paid to modern methods. Formerly it was sent in incinerators or burned in an out-of-the-way places fed to hogs or offered to the farmers. Now it is reduced to fertilizers, fertilizer base, and oils valuable in soap making, and many other byproducts of commercial and chemical value. A position has been presented to the officials in this direction which is still being considered for garbage disposal that could at once solve that of the problem.

Twenty-five Cents a Day Cost.

In the estimate of the Board of Health made at its meeting on Wednesday afternoon, the cost of the plan to be incorporated in the budget Monday night, the figures are as follows:

5 teams, 10 horses, @ $500.00 2500.00

5 sets harness @ $125.00 625.00

7 1/2 ton Highway Trailers @ $1350.00 9450.00

1 1/2 Ton Truck or other make @ 475.00 475.00

1 horse @ 2000.00 2000.00

Maintenance of truck onay, 2000.00

10 men for operation of horse drawn trailers @ 60 per hr. for 10 hrs. per day ..... 2200.00

Horse up keep, per year ..... 1000.00

Rope, etc., per year ..... 2000.00

This is, as the board states in its report, a cost per inhabitant, figuring that there are 26,000 people in

HEAVY FROST IS FORECAST TONIGHT

An overcast sky Wednesday night with a continuation of the wind did not prevent any chances of frost in this vicinity. While the weather was somewhat warmer at noon today, the temperature being 56 degrees against 52 Wednesday, there are no hopes that there will be any marked change for a day or so.

If it is clear tonight with little wind, there will be a heavy frost in this section, the weatherman predicts. Some encouragement is offered in the forecast of slightly rising temperature Friday.

GIRLS LAY PLANS FOR COMMUNITY ENTERTAINMENT

All of the talent of the city will be utilized in the presentation of "The Evolution of American Music," it was decided by the score of young women who met last evening in Library hall for the purpose of arranging plans for a community entertainment. Many of the clubs sent representatives but that the production will be a complete community affair more will be required to enlist their services.

Mrs. Elbridge Field, 122 East street, who is to conduct the production, explained that the meeting that the most original and efficient work could be done by each club presenting a certain period of American music, working independently and deciding upon their own costumes and scenery.

The versatility of the entertainers, she said, would determine the exact times to be used, as music from Pilgrim times to present day jazz is to be presented.

Those who wish to take part are asked to notify Mrs. Field within the next few days that rehearsals may be begun. It has been suggested that the smaller clubs go together in presenting a period of music.

FARM BUREAU TO JOIN WITH EQUITY

Two Big Wisconsin Farm Business Organizations to Consolidate.

[EXTRACT TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, Sept. 30.—Plans which have been under discussion for many weeks for the consolidation of the American Society of Equity and the Wisconsin and Rock River branch of the American Farm Federation, bureau of which George W. Hull, town of Johnstown, Rock county, is president, have reached a point now where the ratification of the movement by the two organizations is the only step remaining.

Nordman is helping.

Commissioner Fred C. Newman, in helping plans for the consolidation, and L. F. Foster, assistant marketing commissioner, has pushed the movement.

Increased effectiveness and efficiency for co-operative marketing is the primary aim, it is stated.

The Equity society is willing to give up its name, while the farm bureau will in return accept the principles of the Equity.

Leaders in the movement confidently expect that a consolidation society of 100,000 members will be formed in a few years.

No action will be taken when both societies hold their conventions. The Equity society will hold its convention in Milwaukee on October 3.

Membership of 150,000.

The combination is evidently expected to mean a membership of 150,000 members within a few years.

The Farm Bureau in Wisconsin is a recent addition to the state's organized farm movement. It is strong in Rock, Waukesha and Fond du Lac counties, where it has almost 10,000 members.

The movement originated in Iowa and Minnesota from small county farm organizations promoted by bankers' associations, business men and agricultural colleges. They were originally for the sole purpose of developing the marketing power of the farmer, leaving the business men to do the marketing.

Former state federations about six years ago consolidated into the American Farm Bureau federation, which has a membership of more than 500,000 and extends into practically every state.

Dues in the bureau are $10 a year and Equity membership costs $2.50 a year.

Marketing Plan.

With the growth of the Farm Bureau movement, an aggressive marketing scheme was worked out. Under the leadership of Geo. W. Hull, the growth of the Bureau has been rapid in Wisconsin.

In other states where the Equity did not exist, the Farm Bureau was the only agency fighting the marketing problems of the farmer. In Wisconsin, however, it encountered the Equity, which has been working on the marketing of farm produce for many years.

Both organizations, after a year of competing for membership, found that it possible to best live for the economic uniting of strength and purpose.

Special Meeting to Be Called.

The Farm Bureau will call a special state convention for ratification and an agreement be reached.

Officers of the Farm Bureau are: George W. Hull, president; C. A. Peterson, secretary; C. W. Keyes, treasurer. State offices are at 410 Pleasant building, Madison.

Equity officials are: J. N. Tittermore, president, Omro, who was a candidate for governor on an anti-nonpartisan league platform; H. Houston, secretary-treasurer, Madison. Members of the board of directors representing the Equity in the proposed consolidation are: J. Fred Larson and James Clemmons. Mr. Larson is the originator of the Equity society's plan for cooperative business and marketing.

He has been organizing a large Chamber of Commerce there, associating all civic and business organizations under one head. M. B. Excell, the Democratic nominee for national representative in the Twenty-second Ohio district, has offered to withdraw his candidacy in favor of Mrs. A. B. ## SAMSON RUNNING ON USUAL SCHEDULE

Reduction of Two Weeks Ago Still Continues—May Close for Inventory.

WEAVER NOT BRIBED, VETERAN FAN THINKS

Frank L. Smith, city assessor, does not carry the reputation of being an "old-timer," but he has this to say of the world's series of 1919: "I saw the Sox and Cincinnati play three games and I remarked at the time the man I was with said Schalle Edie Collings and Weaver were the only stars of the Chicago club who played baseball. I don't think 'Buck' Weaver is mixed up in this bribery deal at all."

One armed champion here in Janesville and will be seen in action parts of the country has brought out rumors of Samson curtailment and closing of the plant.

The plant is working on the capacity to which it was reduced two weeks ago when the Gazette printed the story of curtailment in production necessitated by the lack of storage facilities.

"Some time during the month the plant will close for several weeks," says J. A. Burns, president of the Samson Company today.

"The lead over Harding is no more closed now than it has been," he said in answer to a question as to that part of the plant not being at work.

YOUTHFUL JAIL BREAKER CAUGHT

(See Associated Press.)

Oshkosh, Sept. 30.—Frank Paulus, aged 17, who with Stanley Guenther, aged 20, escaped from the county jail here Monday after slugging the jailer, was captured late Wednesday afternoon in the back room of the Cook and Brown company, where he had been sought. This morning he was brought into municipal court and pleaded guilty to stealing $65 a bicycle, which he tried to sell for $10 at Pond du Lac. The fact that he had served a term at the house which he had escaped from was emphasized in a defense, and a severe penalty and the stipulation he serve one year at the state prison at Waupun. Paulus attempted to get on a train after being seen in the brickyard, and was chased by a police officer who hatched him by firing two shots to scare him. No trace has been found of Guenther, who is charged with robbery of a summer resort cottage at Butte Des Morts, near here.

THIS IS AS IT SHOULD BE.

The movement on foot to consolidate the American Farm Bureau and the American Society of Equity into one body in Wisconsin is in the right direction and it is to be hoped it will be successfully accomplished. Both are business organizations. They have no part or parcel in the non-partisan league politics and are not committed to the idea that you can legislate wealth into the pockets of the people over night. The American Farm Bureau has shown itself to be the one big strong organization, wider in its scope than the Equity, but both are organized for the purpose of marketing products without nuicting the consumer, to aid and assist in keeping the farm up to high business standards and make farming no longer a mere gamble, but an established, well regulated, highly efficient industry.

THE CIRCUS-RIDE, MR. BLAINE.

John J. Blaine says he will run on his own platform. In other words he is not making a campaign as a republican, but as "Mr. Blaine" singly and alone and on his own ideas. But it seems that Mr. Blaine rode two horses in the primary circus menagerie act, and must continue to act up to election time.

One of the horses was a socialistic dark bay sired by Mr. La Follette. The other was a real red horse, sired by the nonpartisan league and later damed by the people. On this Mr. Blaine said he "stood with both feet." Now then, from a purely physical standpoint, if Blaine stood with both feet on this horse, how can he ride in the ring on the other horse whose progenitor is the piaf, La Follette? He will have to do some plain and fancy riding, some trick performances, and some acrobatic stunts that Ringling Bros. would pay more than a governor's salary to have in the ring.

Among the other bright gems in political literature is the nonpartisan demand in the platform on which Blaine stands "with both feet," to public ownership of railroads, stockyards and terminals, grain elevators, packing plants, terminal warehouses, cold storage and all other public utilities and all natural resources."

No wonder Victor Berger and his "no" socialists accuse Blaine of stealing "with both feet" State socialism is the aim of the socialist league, here and everywhere that the "feet" of the un-American leadership of that organization can get a grip.

There is a candidate for governor in Wisconsin and one only who is opposed in person and platform to this program of confiscation and inauguration of the Russian system here, and he is Col. Robert McCoy, of Sparta.

One does not understand how the American Society of Equity members, the Wisconsin Federation of Labor and kindred organizations are to support Mr. Blaine without slanting themselves. They have refused to join the socialist party in Wisconsin as organizations, and inability to swallow Berger makes it impossible to accept the unpalatable Mr. Blaine.

It is to be noted that so staunch a republican paper as the Whitewater Register has raised the McCoy flag and is for his election without reservations.

ONE LANGUAGE.

In spite of the attempt of political time servers to make an issue of the use of foreign languages and blatantly to support schools in languages other than American, there has never been a time when the study of English has been so universal as now: "One country, one language and one flag," the new motto of the G. A. R. is the real basis of an autonomous, cohesive nation. For 27 years the Meyer Press, of Appleton, has been printing a German twice a week paper. Now with the decline of German readers, the falling off in subscriptions and increased costs they have reduced the two to one and curtailed that. One by one, as the first generation of German settlers passes, the German publications have gone out of existence. Since the war the loyal German people here have more than ever been interested in the study of, and establishment of English as the language of schools, of literature and of worship.

The language of America is English, and among other attributes of citizenship should be the language of the republic. Not all can learn it with facility, but the second generation can have it as a part of the heritage of the new life and the new land. American institutions and American traditions, American ideals, are best learned in the language in which they were first impressed on a free people.

MAINTAINING A GREAT NEWSPAPER.

When Frank Munsey purchased the New York Herald, he consolidated it with the New York Sun which he already owned. He joined then two of the world's greatest newspaper institutions. The Evening Sun, established long after the Morning Sun was a factor in national life, was still maintained. But the name, "New York Sun and Herald" was unwieldy, and those interested in American newspaper history will be pleased to know that Mr. Munsey has reviewed the Herald as a separate entity, by giving his morning edition the name of the "New York Herald," while to the evening paper the name of "The Sun" will be continued. Two newspapers will therefore be kept intact and separate and that is as it should be. Under Mr. Munsey these newspaper properties, much run down and notoriously money losers, have come back to prosperity and profitable operation.

If we keep on, poker and roulette will be the only square games.

Presidential Campaigns

BY FREDERIC J. DASKIN
IX. THE BUCHANAN-FREMONT-FILLMORE
RACE OF 1856.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—With "bleeding Kansas" as the issue, the Republican party made its first appearance in the arena of national politics in 1856, with Colonel John C. Fremont as its candidate.

If Franklin Pierce and his followers had been content to rest upon the Compromise of 1850 as the final settlement of the slavery question in politics, the inevitable clash of the Civil War might have been postponed for a long time. But the Democrats had won such a great victory, and the opposition was so utterly demoralized, that the Pierce administration imagined it could do anything with impunity. Indulging in that mistaken belief, Pierce brought about the repeal of the Missouri Compromise. Thus with the doctrine that slavery must be permitted in territories, the believers in the "peculiar institution" sought to extend it to the territories of Kansas and Nebraska. Both of these territories were north of the "thirty-six thirty" line of the Missouri Compromise and its repeat opened up the whole question.

The Republican party was born big. It stirred up one of the hottest campaigns the country has ever known before there was actually in existence as a national body. It owed much of its power in its first campaign to the Tribune. The Tribune was the Republican Tribune. The Tribune was the Republican Tribune. It thundered against abuses which were exciting the whole country, yet it could do nothing as the dove of political expediency demanded. It even went so far as to bid for southern support for Fremont and talked of avoiding the "danger of a solid South, pleading the white for the establishment of a "solid North."

No campaign up to that time had had so many issues. Of course slavery was the only real issue, but as yet not one person of any prominence in actual politics had dared to oppose slavery in the states where it existed. It was only against the extension of slavery that the Free Soilers, the liberal Whigs, the anti-Nebraska democrats and the republicans were fighting. But the southerners realized that Republican success would mean an ultimate attack upon the States' Rights of which they were such ardent defenders.

The Republican party held its first convention at Pittsburgh on Washington's Birthday and formed an organization. It called a nominating convention to meet at Philadelphia on Bunker's Hill day. That convention met and nominated John C. Fremont for President and William L. Dayton for Vice President. The Democrats held their convention in Cincinnati, the first national convention ever held west of the Alleghenies. The race for the nomination was sharp, the candidates being James Buchanan, who was chosen on the seventeenth ballot, Franklin Pierce, Stephen A. Douglas and Lewis Cass. John C. Breckinridge of Kentucky was nominated for Vice President.

The Whig party was broken up, but its remnants went into the Nativist movement and worked with the "American" or "Know-nothing" party. The Know-Nothings nominated Millard Fillmore for President and Andrew Jackson Donelson of Tennessee for Vice President. The Whigs went through the form of holding a national convention and endorsed the Fillmore ticket. This ended the tale of the Whigs, created into a political organization by anti-Masonry, expiring as an adjunct of anti-Catholicism.

Free States, Free Kansas, Free Speech, Free Press, Free Men!" That was the Republican battle-cry. "Buck and Breek" was as much as the Democratic campaign poets could find for their slogan. But it was not a campaign of laudation. The Republicans denounced and defied and damned the doings of the Democrats. The Democrats, in turn, occupied conservative ground and defended their actions under the Constitution. The Fillmore ticket was a refuge for those who didn't want to take sides in a most unpleasant argument.

After the Lawrence, Kansas, massacre, Horace Greeley decided that "President Pierce, the captain of the Border Ruffians, will go to Clarendon to seek a denomination stained from head to foot with the heart's blood of the Free-state men of Kansas." When Preston Brooks, a South Carolina member of Congress, assaulted Senator Charles Sumner of Massachusetts in the Senate Chamber, the whole North was set on fire. Greeley called it a "dead of blood committed in the Chamber of Assassins."

Indignation meetings were held everywhere. In Boston there was a great meeting at Tremont Temple and another in Faneuil Hall. Wendell Phillips, Lyman Beecher, Theodore Parker, the venerable Josiah Quincy and others of that generation were there to fan the flames of popular indignation. At the same time, in the South, the older birds could not prevent the young men from applauding Brooks' action in resenting the insults which Sumner had heaped upon the head of the aged Senator Butler. Brooks' kinsmen, Good Republicans never called a regular Democratic meeting less insulting than "Boycott Ruth." Buchanan had been the first to sign the famous Ostend Manifesto which looked to the annexation of Cuba. The Pierce administration and Buchanan had looked with favor upon the Neutrino filibustering expedition of William Walker, "the gray-eyed man of destiny" and the Republicans believed that it was the beginning of a campaign of conquest of which Cuba was to be the chief prize. Therefore it was not at all surprising that the Democrats and supporters of Buchanan should have found themselves dubbed "butchers."

One of the greatest political meetings or "rallies" ever held in this country was the "Buchanan and Freedom Festival" at Dayton, Ohio, on July 30, 1856. There were more than a hundred thousand people there from all over Ohio and from adjoining states. The rallying cry that day was: "There is a North!" One of the chief features was a parade of young men from Indiana. This parade was headed by no less a personage than His Satanic Majesty, who was being attended by a company of menials who were easily recognized as President Pierce and his Cabinet. Then there were floats representing "Buck and Breek," the Walker filibuster, Border Ruffians beating women to death, southerners applying tar-and-feather coats to Free-state men, a Simon Legree bearing an Uncle Tom, a Brooks breaking his cane over a Sumner's head, Brigham Young and his wives, (Mormonism was then a Democratic asset) and all winding up with a representation of the "gigantic" Douglas attacking the Missouri Compromise. That day it was declared there were only two parties in Ohio—"The Peoples" and the "Postmasters."

Rousing the sentiment of the Free-states to thus support the Republican ticket was good enough for the young, but the leaders realized that the old conservative Democrats must be appealed to, and that the old Whigs must be kept from voting for Fillmore. To win the old time Democrats, Greeley and his cohorts opened fire on Buchanan's record. They proved that he had been a Federalist had been twice elected to Congress after Jackson's day as a Federalist, that he had been a slavery restrictionist in 1820, and that he had been so devoted to the "thirty-six thirty" line of the Missouri Compromise that he wanted to extend it all the way to the Pacific in 1850.

To the wavering Whigs old Greeley talked straight as man to man and brother to brother. He declared that the Fillmore ticket was being financed and run by Democrats to divide the northern vote, that its only possible effect would be to defeat Fremont and elect Buchanan, and that Fillmore's hope of having the election "thrown into the House" was a delusion and a snare. He attacked "Know-Nothingism" with such bitterness that he not only weakened its strength among the old Whigs, but he attracted many German-Americans of the Northwest to the new Republican standard.

The election was over there was hardly a suggestion of a cessation of the Republican activity. Nobody believed that Buchanan would be able to solve the delicate problems which confronted him. The great battle was already on.

JUST FOLKS

BY EDGAR A. GUEST.

COUNSEL.
Oh, you shall be afraid to bring my boy before you come to victory.
Yes, you shall hear his joyful things that have had to see.
And you shall feel the hurtful blows which every man has had to bear—
But meet them as a man, my boy, and you shall crown of joy shall wear.

Oh, you shall look in failure's face and you shall hear the scoffers jeer;
And you shall feel like giving up because no help for you is near.
And you shall see your plans go wrong and all your castles tumble down—
But keep the faith and start anew, and you shall some day win renown.

I would not bid you not to weep for tears of grief shall fill your eyes,
I would not bid you not to care when you shall lose the thing you prize,
For hurt pain and pain are hard to bear and sorrow cuts deep the soul—
But stand you fast and serve the truth, and you shall come unto your goal:

There shall be days when hope is dim and when joys seem far away,
There shall be days when you shall have to climb and drag yourself to do;
It is no easy path you fare, no light and simple game you're in,
Life shall beest and try your strength—but meet its tests, and you shall win.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

BY ROY K. MOUTON.

THE LAST LUSH.

(To be read in 1940.)
I had seen him off before As he passed by the door.
And again The peasant stones resounded As he totters o'er the ground With his cane.

They say that in his prime, Ere the passing of time he died, Not a greater lush was found By the Crier on his round Through the town.

But now he walks the streets And he looks at all he meets, See and wan, For the pubs, they are no more, And murmur o'er and o'er: "They are gone."

My grandmother has said— Poor old lady, she is dead, Long ago— That he had a curling nose And his cheeks was like a rose In the snow.

I know it is a sin For me to sit and grin At him here; But the habits that they had When the cocktail was afad Were so queer.

PERSONAL PREJUDICES.

I instinctively dislike a man who carries a toothbrush in his coat pocket.

I would rather hire a bankrupt man than one whose shoes are not polished.

I like garlic salad and, for that reason, have few close friends.

I would rather see Ed Wynn at his worst than Robert Mantell at his best.

I think most presidential candidates are wretched.

I am very fond of work when somebody else is doing it.

I detest banquets and "vers libre." Neither means anything.

I never do business with a man who uses a cigar to talk while talking to me.

I know a man who coughs in my face just for the opportunity to say: "ardon me."

I am partial to only two types of women—blondes and brunettes.

I never get her up over the love stories in the magazines.

"John Are Yawning for Men"—Headline. And so many men have yawned themselves out of jobs.

Who's Who Today

COL. GEORGE T. DENISON.

Coincident with the issue of his latest book, "The Recollections of a Police Magistrate," Col.

George T. Denison, chief police magistrate of Toronto, celebrated on August 31 his eighty-third birthday. A vigorous man in body and keen of mind.

Col. Denison was for twenty years the only police magistrate in Toronto, carries on his duties with the alacrity of a young man.

Since his appointment ten years ago he has handled in his court $60,000 cases, most of them untried.

On his birthday he disposed of about seventy cases in less than an hour. He has never arrived late at court and still walks home from his office when the weather is favorable.

The distance is three miles.

He is a cavalry expert, and has written several books on military and other subjects.

Col. Denison was always especially admired by him. Like the famous field marshal, he forgot the great war and the attempted domination of the world by Germany.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

The kicking around and down and out of the League-La Follette hour, long which had been led into the republican state convention by Mr. Blaine, narrowly won out over the Neutrino, the champion of the open primary, is the sensation of the campaign.

As many are inclined to blame Senator La Follette for being a party to making Blaine a sandwich man for the election, it is asserted by some that Blaine would mean a Leipzig-La Follette and Brooks a Berlin-La Follette two years hence.

The small senator was ignored by the convention, although Senator La Follette was given a send-off.—Eau Claire Telegram.

What heavy clip old H. C. L. would get if everyone who wants a job wanted work!—Boston Evening.

Sept. 30, 1880.—There seems to be some trouble brewing about the building of the rail road near the bluffs at Clarendon. MILTON COLLEGE
OPENS; CLASSES
STAGE STUNTS

(By Gazette Correspondent)
Milton—First honors in the annual class rushing period between the freshmen and sophomores of Milton college were won by the first year students, who arose at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday morning and evaded the village for a class breakfast, while the rest of Milton, including the sophomores, was fast asleep. The happy "fresh" cooked wieners over a bright fire and elected class officers. The scene of their early morning repast was held near the North school, which stands on the Atkinson road about a half mile from Milton.

A similar picnic meal or an indoor party will probably be held by the sophomores before the week is over. Meanwhile, the second year students will try their utmost to learn the identity of the freshman officers in order to capture them and thus score a point for their own class. Should the sophomore win the majority of points during the rush, however, the freshman will be obliged to wear green caps during the college year.

Baseball Weds Basketball

A mock wedding between Mr. Herbert Kukuske, Jamesville, and Mr. Herbert Kukuske, Jamesville, was held Saturday evening by E. W. Thompson, Covington, Pa., featuring the opening Milton college football field Tuesday night in the gymnasium-auditorium. The "bride," dressed in basketball uniform and wearing a team jacket, for a veil, evoked loud laughter from the audience of students and their friends.

"Groom," adorned in a baseball uniform and catcher's mask, presented almost as ridiculous an appearance as his partner. Flower girls, bridesmaids and all other attendants were missing.

The socials were given under the auspices of the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian associations of the college. The college band and the Lipinski-Newman trio furnished music.

"Beloit Trying to Keep Cardinals Out of State Basket League" -- Denning

By FRANK SINCLAIR

Efforts of the Fairbanks-Morse basketball officials, bent presumably on keeping the Janesville Lakota Cardinals out of a Wisconsin state semi-pro basketball league now being formed, have been frustrated by action of Joe Denning, manager of the Cards. Coming after the recent trouble between the Samson Tractors and the Fairies at Evansville, when Beloit refused to abide by an uniprice decision in a baseball game, the statement of the Fairies that they will have nothing further to do in the affairs of Janesville, this kind of thing seems to be getting a habit with Beloit.

At a meeting of managers of basketball teams in Green Bay, attended by Frank Denning, manager of the Fairbanks-Morse baseball team; Dennis McCarthy, president of the Fairbanks-Morse Athletic association; Denning, and others, it was agreed to decide to permit only industrial and independent teams to enter the circuit. When practically all business of forming the league was over, except a few minor details, Denning asked to be excused, with the understanding that out of spontaneous nothingness he had done detrimental to his interests. After he had gone, he says, the Beloit official moved and forced through a provision that only industrial teams could play in the league.

Beloit Fainted

The trick is easily seen. The Janesville Lakota Cardinals are an independent team. Except for the Northern Paper Mills of Green Bay, they are the strongest live in the state. Containing the league in industrial teams only is one way of trying to bar the Cardinals.

But Beloit is out of luck. Before Denning had gone to Green Bay he had been approached by several industrial firms of Janesville with propositions that they are willing to back the team.

Denning states that later in the evening, after the meeting was over, he met McCarthy of Beloit and asked him if anything new had developed at the meeting. He states the answer he received was "No."

Agree Oct. 12.

Another meeting of the newly formed league will be held at the Fairbanks-Morse plant Oct. 12. It is probable this matter will be brought up at that time, and thrashed out.

After adopting a set of by-laws, a schedule of 28 games was planned, 14 at home and 14 abroad, for each of the four teams that are accepted in the wheel. A large trophy will be given by Spalding, who sent a special representative to the meeting from Chicago.

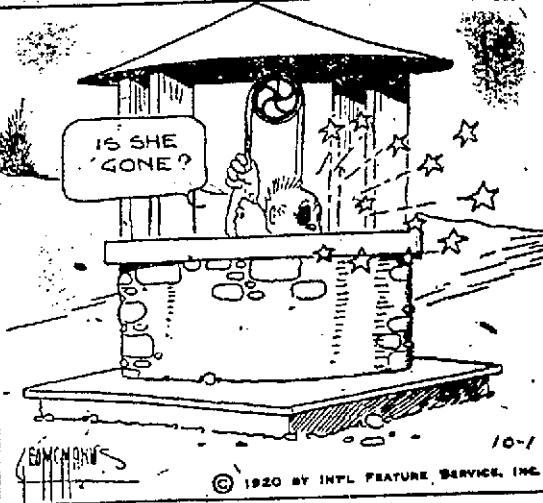

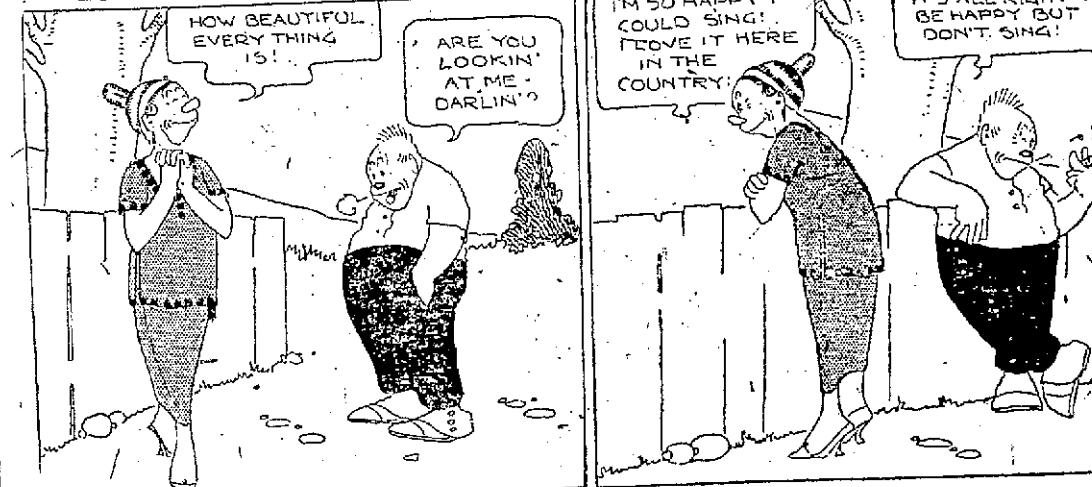

The cities which are certain to form the league are: Two Rivers (American); Green Goods Manufacturing (Green Bay); Northern Paper Mills; Beloit (Fairbanks-Morse); Janesville Lakota Cardinals; London (Edisons); Two City Cardinals. Other cities being considered are Plymouth, Manitowoc, Racine, Sheboygan, and Kenosha.

Heath Is Author

The semi-pro league was suggested last spring by Frank H. Heath, sports editor of the Fond du Lac Leader at a meeting on Fond du Lac attended by Frank Sinclair, sports editor of the Janesville Gazette, and Val Schell, sports writer of the Green Bay Press-Gazette. Now that it has reached a definite state, it is expected that Heath will be chosen secretary.

White it was at first thought that the Lakota Cardinals might not do anything in football line this season, being states that he will put a team in the field. The army will

SAMSONS TRIM RACINE, 7 TO 1; KENOSHA TODAY

Twice within a week the Case Threshers of Racine fallen before the outgearing Samson Tractors. Wednesday the Threshers lost to the Samsons on their home lot, 7 to 1.

John Wooten, twirling for the Janesville team, pitched a smart game. He allowed only five hits and kept them scattered.

Samsons gathered 12 hits, one of them a home by Lathrop, and another a three-bagger by Milan. Milan got two hits, each of them with men on the bases, and driving in runs. Shook was the other heavy hitter of the day, getting three.

Today the Samsons tackle the Kenosha team at Evansville. Widespread, and being played to give the Rock County fair officials an adequate deal for the fairies' entertainment, Sept. 10, a large crowd is expected.

Lathrop will pitch today and Perring will go in at third. Manager George was out Wednesday with the combination of a sprained finger and game leg.

Saturday Gregory will pitch against Whitewater Central State and Kenosha winners here. He was to have started for Janesville last Sunday, but rain interfered.

OUTLOOK IMPROVES FOR LOCAL FOOTBALL

With Ralph Capron, former Minnesota football star, Joe DeLong, local sports promoter, is going about to find a football team in the field here this season. It is expected that first practice will start Monday night at the fair grounds. Denning and Capron have been scouting around for material. They believe they can get a team from college stars and remain backfield or front material in town.

If plans mature as expected the first game will be played at the fair grounds Sunday, Oct. 17. The Chicago booster club, which tied Green Bay Packers, 3-3, last Sunday, will be the opponents. This squad has as a member, Bond, who played basketball a few years ago with the Lakewood Cardinals, and Saxe, a former Beloit Faty basketball star.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 29.—Cincinnati postponed rain. Double header Saturday.

Boston, Sept. 30.—Philadelphia at Boston, game postponed; rain.

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—Washington at Philadelphia game postponed; rain.

Professor of Economics, Lawrence College and Educational Director of Wisconsin Society for Civic and Economic Education.

Questions of general interest pertaining to civics and economics will be answered in these columns. When space will not permit letters will be answered in columns subject to proportion or limitation, and when a stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Address communications to Professor D. O. Kinsman, Lawrence College, Appleton, Wisconsin.

THE QUALIFICATIONS OF VOTERS

The ruling classes have always questioned the equality of the masses to participate in affairs of the state. This was when it was an accepted belief that only "divinely chosen kings" were qualified to rule the state; then in time the nobles secured a voice in the management; and finally became common and demands governments were ushered in by the framers of our United States Constitution, which trust the government to the wisdom and abilities of the average voter. It is a striking fact that in this, the greatest of all democracies, the voters do not elect directly a single United States official, namely, president and vice-president, and the senator, the next-ejector and vice-president are elected by electors chosen in the various states; and senators and representatives have been officially declared to be states, not United States, of the nation, even though civil service of the United States at present employs approximately 650,000 workers, or one in every 100 of our population. All these and thousands of others are appointed.

After a struggle of several years, there has just been written into the constitution the Nineteenth Amendment which provides that no citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age, shall be deprived of the right to vote because of sex. This is as it should be, but let us go back to the days of the South where an extension of the suffrage to the colored women greatly intensified an already serious situation.

As now provided by the federal and our state constitutions a voter in Wisconsin must be twenty-one years of age, a resident of the state one year, and of the election district where he offers to vote ten days. He or she must be a citizen of the United States, either native born or naturalized; or a civilized person of any kind, except not a member of any tribe or a person of Indian blood whose tribe has been declared by congress to be citizens of the United States. This last provision was enacted for the benefit of the Signbridge Indians who, for some time, gave up their tribal organization and adopted the white man's mode of life, but later returned to their tribal government. Yet, they retained their right to vote!

But all persons possessing the above named qualifications are not permitted to vote because of guardianship. Who are idiots, or persons who have served a term in the state penitentiary permitted to vote unless pardoned by the governor. The right is also denied persons who bet on elections, or who have been convicted of bribery, or who have participated in a duel. The qualifications for exercising the suffrage are very important for they designate the group who possess the most important power in our republic. No patriotic man should fail to perform his patriotic duty.

All men may become naturalized. Mr. R. M. asks: How may a woman born in a foreign country become a citizen of the United States? A. A woman born in a foreign country may become a citizen of the United States in either of two ways. She may take out her first and get one paper, the same as a man, a quicker, but more dubious method is to marry a citizen of the United States.

Number of Senators and Representatives. Mr. R. M. asks: How many members are there in the United States House of Representatives? In the United States Senate?

A. There are 435 members in the House of Representatives and 96 United States Senators. Representatives will be reapportioned as soon as the United States census reports the population. The number will then be changed as the House thinks wise.

You're taking the right step when you switch to Spur's

YOU can't do better. After you've smoked through a pack of Spur's, you won't want to go back to other cigarettes. You'll find your old kind sort of flat and uninteresting, like last year's politics.

For Spur's good tobacco taste can't help but win you for keeps. There's rich, mellow Turkish, flavorful Burley and other home-grown tobaccos blended in a new way that brings out to the full the all-round goodness of this top-notch cigarette.

And Spur's top all—all ways. They're crimped. That means slow burn, smooth taste—no paste. The smart "brown-and-silver" package is three-fold to keep Spur's fresh and fragrant.

Twenty cents will prove that Spur's are your kind of cigarettes—top-notch quality at rock-bottom price. The sooner you try them the gladder you'll be.

Many Old Faces to Be Missing From Congress After March 4

Below: Senator Thomas, S. R. Sells and John J. Esch.

Washington—Primaries held in many states have admitted in the dead heat a large number of old-timers in both houses of congress. In some cases representatives who have been in congress for 20 years have been defeated and will not be seen in their accustomed seats after March 4 next.

Three democratic senators who have been much in the news during the past few years because of their opposition to the new administration will not have a seat in the next congress. They are Gore of Oklahoma, Kirby of Arkansas, and Hoke Smith of Georgia. A fourth democratic senator, Thomas of Colorado, will not return to congress.

Representative Alvan T. Fuller (republican, Mass.), who achieved distinction by telling congress it was a "bunch of barnacles on the ship of state," has won the republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

Representative John M. Evans (nonpartisan league) defeated Representative John H. Small of North Carolina, a member of the house for 22 years, was defeated for renomination by a younger man.

In Pennsylvania two wets, Representatives Steele and Dewart, are retiring from the house and have turned down two of its older members for renomination.

Representative Sims, democrat, was defeated by an ex-soldier, Waller Downing. Representative Sam R. Sells, republican, also was defeated by an ex-soldier, Carroll Beece.

Representative John P. Esch (rep., Wis.) was defeated for renomination. Mr. Esch was co-author with Senator Cooner of the new transportation act.

Former Representative Stafford is trying to defeat Victor Berger, twice rejected by the house, as representative from Wisconsin. In the first election he defeated former Representative Cooner, conspicuous for his fight against armed neutrality, but has been renominated, defeating Representative Randall, incumbent.

The political mix-up in Maryland is attracting considerable attention among the wets and drys. Senator John Walter Smith, the last of the old-time democratic bosses in the senate, is having a battle royal to succeed himself. He has taken the side of the drys.

GLOOM FOR COX: COLORADO OUTLOOK

No Ray of Hope There for Democratic Candidate—N. P. League a Factor.

By DAVID LAWRENCE,
Copyrighted by the Janesville Gazette.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 30.—Dissension in the democratic party and the intrusion of the nonpartisan league in state affairs has captured the democratic primaries here. Thus the Denver Post, hitherto democratic paper and one of the big influences in the 1916 campaign for Wilson, being largely responsible for his success not only in Colorado, but also in Wyoming, Arizona, New Mexico, Idaho, and surrounding states, is likewise on the presidential business. It has developed a more or less neutral attitude league voters are free to vote the farmer-labor ticket, and many of them will. This will cost Cox more votes than the republicans. Similarly, the regular democrats have been so antagonized by the nonpartisan league forces that many of them were not at all pleased when Gov. Cox received the league's nominee for governor in his private car and hobnobbed with him while in Colorado.

Deputy Post Lukewarm
So much attention, however, has been given to the bitter fight on state affairs that the effort to put out the nonpartisan league overshadows all else. Thus the Denver Post, hitherto democratic paper and one of the big influences in the 1916 campaign for Wilson, being largely responsible for his success not only in Colorado, but also in Wyoming, Arizona, New Mexico, Idaho, and surrounding states, is likewise on the presidential business. Similarly the Denver Times, although a strong advocate of Harding, on the theory, evidently, that he will abandon Johnson after the election. Anyway, there is not a newspaper of large influence in Colorado that is helping Cox. The Ohio governor is still against a third party proposition, the democratic organization is disrupted and disorganized.

The audience that greeted the governor on his arrival in Denver was enthusiastic and cordial. Some of the men here said he showed the effects of his long journey.

Sympathy for Cox

I find considerable sympathy for Gov. Cox for his gallant fight against big odds. The feeling here seems to be that Cox is struggling alone and unaided. For instance, today the Denver Post has a cartoon displayed Gov. Cox standing in an imploring attitude before a row of smirking republicans.

Twenty Thousand for Harding

How different things are from the 1916 campaign. When the writer reached Colorado in 1916 he was around the state with four years ago the friendships to Wilson was unmistakable.

Every straw vote in this vicinity

favors Harding. Republican leaders in 1916 told me privately they couldn't carry Colorado and would lose the state by 10,000 majority. President Wilson carried it by 70,000, and this time the democrats who ought to know predict a

Harding victory by at least 20,000.

Want a Change

The league of nations is not a controlling factor in the election. There is only one factor—the impatience for a change of administration. Furthermore, the democratic label has gotten a black eye by its association with the nonpartisan league. In the desire to vote against the democratic state ticket, many old-line democratic voters for Harding and the whole republican ticket. Some former voters that are ordinarily republican would go to Cox if it were not for the farmer-labor ticket to attract the radicals.

The outlook for Cox is gloomy.

Many of my friends here who are good for Cox say he can't win because he has no chance to carry Colorado, and they know the state like a book.

(Tomorrow's dispatch will deal with the situation in Nebraska.)
